Located just off the I-10 freeway on the 372,000-acre Gila River Indian Reservation, the resort is within minutes of the center of Phoenix and the East Valley and their many shopping, entertainment and recreational offerings. Phoenix Sky Harbor International Airport is only 15 minutes (11 miles) from the resort.

DESCRIPTION: Designed to be an authentic representation of the Gila River Indian heritage and culture, the resort will offer its guests a recreational, educational and inspirational experience never before available in a resort setting. The architecture, design, art and legends of the Akimel O'otham and Pee Posh tribes are celebrated in every detail imaginable, indoors and out. The resort is located in the high Sonoran Desert on an expanse of rugged Arizona landscape where the ancient vistas, mountains and roaming wild horses remain untouched. A unique blend of two cultures, the resort offers the quiet serenity created by the ancient sages and native tribes who found haven here along with the high-tech hotel expertise of the Sheraton brand.

ACREAGE: Resort, including 36 holes of golf, spa and Equestrian Center, sits on 2,400 acres of the 372,000- acre Gila River Indian Reservation.

HISTORY: The Pima Indians trace their roots to the HuHugam (Hohokam) who farmed the Gila River Valley from 300 B.C. to 1450 A.D. The HuHugam developed an extensive irrigation system of canals, still used today, which gave birth to farming in the desert. The Pima and Maricopa tribes were hospitable and friendly, welcoming settlers and transforming a hostile territory into a temporary sanctuary...just as they continue to do now with the Wild Horse Pass Resort.

ARCHITECTURE:
AND DESIGN: In conjunction with the owners' Cultural Theming Committee

Architect: Wimberly, Allison, Tong & Goo, Newport Beach, CA
Interior Design: Henriksen Design, Venice, CA

Landscape Architect: BRW, Phoenix, AZ

Spa Architect: David Bury and Company, Ojai, CA
Spa Design: Aparia Design, Irvine, CA

Highlights include:

- Traditional native roundhouse (Olas'ki) design is represented in the domed lobbies of the main resort, the golf clubhouse and the spa. The native tribes lived in Olas'ki abodes in the Gila River Valley of what is now the greater Phoenix area.
- Pima basket patterns especially that of the whirlwind, provide a multitude of design elements throughout.
- All entrances to the resort, spa, and golf club face east. This is the tradition of the Pima and Maricopa people.
- The ceiling dome that is the focal point of the main lobby is surrounded by a mural of ten panels, each showing a different aspect of the culture: creation, elders, youth, games, Pima singers, hunting, Maricopa singers, basket weaving, pottery making, and gathering.

UNIQUE FEATURES:

- A 2-1/2 mile replica of the Gila River meanders through the resort grounds
- 3 Riverside pools and a 111-ft waterfall designed after the nearby Casa Grande Ruins National Monument
- Wild horses roam the surrounding desert land and are visible from the resort

ACCOMMODATIONS:

199 king rooms
275 double/double rooms
26 suites
500 total accommodations

-more-

All rooms and suites have views of the golf course, Estrella Mountains or the Gila River meandering through the grounds.

Guestrooms showcase earth-based colors and natural elements such as cornices made from saguaro ribs. All design elements, including furniture, were carefully selected to complement the natural desert ambiance.

The Pima and Maricopa tribes are famous for their baskets and pottery, respectively. Rooms in the resort are split into two wings, celebrating each tribe's art forms. Design motifs appearing on the comforter, headboards, tiles, etc. in the Pima rooms reflect their basket patterns while those in the Maricopa wing showcase pottery designs.
